MRS. KELLY IS ASKED HER NAME.

Among the arrests made recently, was that of Mrs. Kelly, for intoxication.—Mrs. Kelly is a talkative little body, and shockingly given to one idea. We give her examination:

"What is your name?"

interesting during the forthcoming year.—
They will occupy a middle ground between hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is these Periodicals that are to be the

the only really intelligible and reliable story of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge upon the consideration of the reading public.

Facts for Farmers.

THE GREAT ENEMIES IN FARMING.

It is not the great end, to see how much hard work a man can do, nor how much money can be earned in a given time; but to do it, not only to latter one's condition, but to improve one's self and his family, to make him kind, virtuous and happy. What is first and best, is the farm! The farm was made first, and dwellings, as well as the water- and wind-mills, were concerned in it. Therefore the man stands first, and his land above all, and his land always keep him off.

It is first to make his soil good, to his land; bending his back year in and year out, in the hardest struggles, regardless of his own improvement, and his high relations to society and to God. When a farmer (and he might as well say, any man, a merchant, or professional man) finds himself a slave to his work, wearing himself out prematurely in the mad pursuit of money, he had better pause and ask a few slower questions: What is the use of all this? What is it worth? What is going to amount to in the end! I am true to the dignity of my estate, to my family, to my Maker! Am I preparing for my old age? Am I healthy old age! Am I not cutting short my days!

A little self-satisficing of this sort is most especially in the hurry of our present, and harshest time; but it will not come amiss at any season. Let this instruction be read and received, and you will find a little and there is a little.

LOW LONG BROAD DOWS GO DET.

In answer to this question, a correspondent of the Ohio Farmer furnishes the following sensible remarks, which are so full of truth that no rule could apply to all cows alike, he adds:—I found that cows inclined to take out milk were milked up in two weeks of calving, and I have seen cows and calf healthy and plump; and milk could not be fattened while milk was required from four to six weeks from milking previous to calving, otherwise the calf was small and not well formed, and the following years supply of milk much lessened.
